Vision
Regardless of a child's background, cultural experiences, and family history, all children have access to educational experiences that present opportunities to excel in academic, social, and cross-cultural settings. All students will be taught in a culture that supports preparation for college. Coursework in school will engage the community on issues that are relevant and personal. Students will be able to participate and compete on a global scale.

Mission
The Ambassador School of Global Education nurtures children, helping them experience success in academic and social settings with an appreciation of the various cultures, languages, and communities around the world.

Introduction
Welcome to the Ambassador School of Global Education. We are a new small school. Our goal is to guide children in being healthy, inquisitive, and thoughtful people. Our students will be able to communicate in more than one language, and will learn with, not just about, their peers around the world.

The Ambassador School of Global Education is the first elementary pilot school in the Los Angeles Unified School District with an international focus. We work in collaboration with Asia Society and the Aveson Educational Cooperative as part of the International Studies School Network based in New York and Los Angeles. As such, our curriculum and professional development plans will reflect these collaborations and memberships.

Students
How can you know if the School for Global Education is the right place for you? Here's what we offer:

You will...
- Know everyone and everyone will know you.
- Communicate with students, teachers, or professionals in another country through web-based media.
- Learn to speak at least one other language (Korean, Mandarin, Spanish).
- Take part in field trips, afterschool programs, and much more.
- Use technology in new and exciting ways to design your own projects.
- Make a difference by improving the world through service projects.
- Put together a project portfolio that will show how much you've learned and achieved during your time at this school.
Dear Parents and Guardians:

The world is shrinking. Already, many colleges and universities, as well as companies in the private and public sector are looking for young people who are globally competent. Just as the future will demand certain skills of the rising generation, our school is prepared to deliver an education that allows your child to meet every challenge and reach for new horizons.

We believe that a relevant education, coupled with real attention to every child, will mean that any student, who wants to succeed, will. Although the School for Global Education is a new school, it is based on a good model. Our sister schools—which are typically in urban areas where the high school graduation rate is at 50%—have been successful in graduating 92% of its students. Of the graduating class, an average of 94% of those students choose to go on to college. Starting a global education in elementary school is an investment in the future that’s too good to put off.

The faculty is also dedicated to finding global partnerships and travel opportunities that allow students to experience the world and explore their interests.

These are just a few reasons why you should entrust the Ambassador School of Global Education to give your child a world-class education.

Please write to us if you have questions. We look forward to meeting you and working with your child.

Sincerely,

The Faculty and Staff of
The Ambassador School of Global Education
